Dear Wood- Newell- Noe + Co.

About 4 years ago a man by the name of Hayes left 2 coins with me in silver — Greek coins to find out what they were worth. I some how have put them away some where + cant locate them.

He wants them back—

I cant find them.

I told him I would accept your valuation + pay him for the darned thing. I dont know what they are— but as I remember they were about this size + in ordinary condition.

If he comes to you give him the benefit of the doubt + I'll pay him - with the understanding that when I locate them he gets them back —

How are you? when out here come + see me -

Best wishes

Boyce

The idea of turning the valuation to you is his not mine —

Dear Boyer:

Replying to your letter of March 13th, we went into Executive Session, and decided that it is hard to determine the value of the coins about which you write - as difficult as to fix a price on two trees on the Bois de Boulogne, but we think that a dollar each would be a fair adjustment.

Very truly yours,

Curator
